

1st September 2009

2000th Candidate Trained

MGS Electrical Training helped more than 2000 people get to grips with the 17th Edition since the beginning of 2008, and 2010 looks set to be just as busy for the MGS trainers.

The 2000th to train to BS7671:2008 with MGS was Norman Semple from Reading. As well as learning about the updated wiring regulations, he took home a variety of gifts to mark the event. Norman said, “a lot of my work involves the wiring of houses and the course was a great wiring regulation refresher... it gave me a lot of new knowledge that I will be able to use in my work.”

Senior Trainer Peter said, “Feedback indicates that our candidate find the course to be highly relevant and extremely user-friendly. They may well have been passing on the good word as demand this year and for 2010 continues to be high.”

MGS anticipates that demand for 17th Edition courses will rise even further in the next 12–18 months as under Part P Competent Person scheme rules, all qualified supervisors have to achieve their BS7671: 2008 qualification by the end of next year.

MGS 17th Edition Courses are held at various locations around the country. For details of 17th Edition full and update training courses, visit the MGS website at www.mgselectricaltraining.co.uk